A STATE DINNER AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.-The President's State Dinner to the Representatives of Foreign Governments this evening, recalled the elaborate decorations of last season, when the State apartments were a marvel of floral act. Covers were laid for forty, and in the centre of the table was "The hanging gardens of Baby-lon," a piece some three feet lons, with arches, and formed of carmathon towards and arches and towards of carmathon to the second was formed of carnations, roses, and smilax. Beneath was the long mirror, with miniature grottoes of cluster cactt, and thay birch canoes laden with hiles of the valley, all that reflected in the lake-like surface of the glass. Gilt stands of drooping Marechal Neil bads alternated with silver basins of bonbons in the pretty conceit of swim-ning ducks. Tail gilt candelabra held wax lights, and at the ends of the table were tranching cornucopias of Bon Silene roses having on either side cushions of red and Bon Silene roses having on either side cushions of red and white carnations massed, separately, in diagonal bands. Rouquets of roses were had at the plates of the lady guests, and there were bads for the gentlemen. The winguests, and there were bads for the gentlemen are a mass of tropical leaves, relieved by biocoming orchids, and on the mantels were banks of scarlet tuits and waite hyacipths.

At last justice is done to the great East Room, and the insignificant presence of cut flowers, and small plants than given way to massive decorations, worthy of the has given way to massive decorations, worthy of the has given way to massive decorations, worthy of the best room in the house. Last scasen it was found that filing the window alcoves with palms reaching almost to the ceiling and giant ferms left nothing more to almost to the ceiling and giant ferms left nothing more to the desired. This evening the East Room with its wealth of green and brilliant lights was magnificent. File Marine Band was in attendance, and the dinner of eighteen courses was served at 8 o'clock.

The President took in the Visconnices Das Noguerras, wife of the Fottuquese Minister, who, in the absence of the Minister from Hayti, is Dean of the Diplomatic of the President, and was taken in by the Secretary of State. A PORTRAIT PRESENTED TO MR. DIXEY. The 150th consecutive performance of 'Adonis" at the Bijou Theatre last night was marked by the presentation to Mr. Dixey of an oil portrait of by the presentation to Mr. Dixey of an oil portrait of himself, and by the introduction of several new features in the play. The presentation speech was made by Colonel R. A. J. Miles. The painting was by C. R. Proctor, and represented Mr. Dixey in his stage costume as Adonia. Some of the new features in the play were the burlesque of Irving as Saylock by Mr. Dixey, the song, "Swelis of the Ocean," by the sailors in the chorus, the travesty of German opera which closed the second act, and the Spanish ballero and song, "Casties in Spain." The ballere was especially good, well danced and well sung. Dixey's Irving's Shylock brought cown the house.

AN INSANE WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH. PROVIDENCE, Jan. 28 .- Among the inmates of the State Insane Asylum was Sarah Blackmer, age forty-five, a widow. On Tuesday evening, after the gas was lighted in the spartment where she was under restraint, Mrs. Blackmer stood upon a chair and flirted the straint, Mrs. Bisekiner stood upon a chair and firted the akirt of her dress in the gas jet. The flame set fire to her clothing. She ran out into the long entry and ran up and down the passageway, faming the flames so fu-riously that all her garments were blazing. Her body was burned to a crisp.

AN OPERA HOUSE BURNED. RONDOUT, N. Y., Jan. 29 .- A fire started in Sampson's Opera House in this city at 12:30 o'clock this morning, after the play "The Baudit King" had been presented. The operationse with its scenery is a total loss. The adjoining buildings will be damaged. The fire was still burning fercely at 1:30 a. m.

THE DYNAMITE OUTRAGES.

LONDON, Jan. 28.-In Cunningham's bed-room in Scarboro-st., several copies of United Ireland have been found, as well as copies of the London papers which contained accounts of the attack on Captain Phelan by Short in O'Donovan Rossa's office in New-York. The landlady there says that Cunningham gave no further account of himself than to say that he was a "Liverpool man searching been ascertained work." It has that Cunningham engaged lodgings on Christmas evening in Great Prescott-st. In his luggage was a brown box. Concerning his room the only instructions he gave the landlady concerned this box. He said to her one day: "If any one calls at my room and wants to take that brown box, don't let him, breause it don't belong to me, but to a friend of mine." After giving this order Cunampham left the house. He seen returned with another box, and the landledy noticed a short time afterward that the brown box had disappeared. It is rumored that the police have just arrested a woman who was in the act of entering the Royal Exchange building with a quantity of dynamite concealed in her clothes. The rumor adds that three men, probably accomplices of the woman, were arrested at the same time.

The two girls who were injured by the explosion

were arrested at the same time.

The two girls who were injured by the explosion at the Tower still remain in the hospital. They continue helpless and are destinate. Their clothing was literally tore to shreds. Steps have been taken to crovide for them.

The Paris correspondent of The Moraing News advises that great caution be exercised in receiving information and confessions from persons who offer either concerning the recent series of dynamite outrages. He relates that he was visited vesterday by a fairly well-dressed man, evidently an Irish-American. He described himself as a Feman and a journalist, and offered to sell for a small sum an article written by himself and which he averred contained important dynamite news. The news he desired to sell would really have been important if it had been trustworthy. But an investigation proved that the address given by the Behemian was wrong, that nearly all his personal statements were false, and that the man himself was evidently an impostor.

The newspapers are still swamped with letters containing suggestions as to the proper treatment the Irish people. Some of these letters advise the total discharge of Irish people from all kinds of employment in England. One writer offers to equip a steam vacht for the purpose of kidnapping O Donovan Rossa and Patrick Ford. This man offers to ging a steam vacht for the purpose of kidnapping O Donovan Rossa and Patrick Ford. on Dock within three weeks after sailing from England.

It is reported that in the eastern portion of London attacks have been made on Irishmen as a result of the feeling brought about by the explosions, and that many of them have been beaten in streets at night. The feeling of animosity against the rish is spreading and the police have been ordered to be on the alert to prevent outrages.

The Queen has conferred upon Constable Cole, who was so severely injured in the discharge of his daily at the Westminster Hall explosion, the order of the Athert Medial.

A NEW SCARE IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Jan. 28.-Ten days ago the Chief. of Police received a communication from Mattewan, N. Y. stating that there was a dynamite factory in that place, and that quantities of dynamite were going to be smuggled into Canada to be employed in blowing up the Victoria Bridge and public buildings in Montreal. The communication also stated that rooms had been secured in St. Paul-st., and that four agents of had been secured in St. Paul-st, and that four arents of the dynamite society were in this city disguised as inwyers. The chief communicated with the Dominion authorities, who told him to apprise the Attorney-General of Quebec of the facts. The Attorney-General ordered his deputy to consult with the chief detective. Gladin was sent to find the writer of the letter. From the result of his inquiries it appears that the man is a Frenchman, a batter by trade, and that he is a perfect crank. The man says he received his information in faverus. The man has prom-ised to come to this city on Friday and lay his informa-tion before the Chief of Police and the Deputy Attorney-General.

LEGISLATING AGAINST DYNAMITE.

Hartford, Jan. 28.-A bill was offered in the Senate to-day, and referred to the Judiciary Com-Commissioner for the making, selling buying or exchang ing of dynamite. Every person selling such explosives must affix to the receipt a label giving his name and the date of sate, and must enter it also in a special record book. Any one selling without a license will be subject to a fine of $500, or to haprisonment for from one to three years. Any person having dynamite in his pos-

NO SYMPATHY FOR ENGLAND. J. P. Ryan, president of the Municipal Coun-

As an individual, however, he would say that he had no sympathy for England and nothing to say against those who attacked her, for it was a species of retaliation by a people, bereft pression unparalleled in the history of any other country struggling for freedom and deserving it.

The bill will become a law it is true and will be an evidence of vevoit by legislators against this specie of warfare. STAATS ZEITUNG OFFICE THREATENED. Albert Abendroth, a compositor employed on Staats Zeitang, received an anonymous communication about ten days ago warning him that an attempt would be made to blow up the Staats Zeitneng building with dynamite on next Saturday, and advising him and his fellow-workmen to keep away from the building on his feriow-workment to keep away from the banding set that day.

"Yes," said Mr. Uhl, the managing editor, when spoken to on the subject. "We received such a letter, but it was, we take it, a hoax. We have not asked for the police or the militia nor are we the least bit frightened."

Mr. Uhl remarked further that the letter had been turned over to Mr. Ottendorfer, who consigned it to the waste basket as the production of a crank. The paper has always been bitter in its denunciation of Socialists and Communists, and has expressed strong opinions regarding the perpetrators of the Lendon outrages.

CRITICISING THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY LONDON, Jan. 28.-Sir Stafford Northcote, in a speech at Exeter, yesterday, said that England had now become involved in disputes with Germany in the Transvaal and elsewhere, but in the time of Premier Disraeli England was on the best of terms with Germany. Mr. Gladstone, by a series of blunders, bad placed the Government in a false position with several of the the Government in a false position with several of the Colonies, by this means showing that the Government possessed no great statesmanship. The speaker described the explosions at the Tower of London and the Parliament fauldings as wicked, unmanly, and cowardly outrageous. The greatest danger, however, arose from the fact that these repeated outrages might induce the present weak Government to allow further plunder.

ENGLAND AND AFRICA.

Cape Town, Jan. 28,-General Sir Charles Warren, who was recently sent with special powers to effect a settlement of the Bechnanaland troubles, has had a friendly interview with President Kruger, of the Transvaal Republic, upon the border questions in dispute. Mr. Kruger urged that he possessed individual claims to certain lands in Goshen. General Warren, in answer to this, said that no attempts to secure occupancy on such claims could be tolerated by England. The men who are attempting to gain a foothold in Goshen he characterized as a hand of robbers, and declared that no white people should be allowed to settle in Goshen without special

LONDON, Jan. 28.-The latest advices from the Cam eroons Mission is to the effect that the natives are becoming turbulent over German interference in their ter-ritory. It is feared that they may resort to extreme acts of retaliation for the action of the German fieel, under Commander Knorr, in beginning hostilities without having given the slightest notice of an intention to do so. The English residents at the mission complain bitterly of the absence of British protection, and insist that there is a pressing necessity for the presence of an imposing naval force.

THE NEUTRALITY LAW AT HONG KONG. A FRENCH MAN-OF-WAR COMPELLED TO SAIL BY

THE BRITISH AUTHORITIES, Hong Kong, Jan. 28.-The French man-of-war Triomphant, which has been lying here for several lays, unable to proceed further because of the refusal of the British authorities to allow her to refit, departed to-day. The commander's instructions were to proceed to Hong Kong, refit, and then rejoin the fleet. Before her arrival, however, the Marquis Tseng, acting under instruct ons from Pekin, had protested so vigorously against the free use of the neutral ports of Chena by the invading ships of France that the British Government caused special orders to be forwarded to the Governors of Hong Kong and other English colonies in the far East looking to the more rigid enforcement of the terms of the foreign enlistment act. The Triomphant arrived at Hong Kong after the enforcement of the special orders had begun. The British efficials have been uncompromising in their new attitude, and to-day the commander of the Triomphant gave up the contest. He was allowed to take on board sufficient coal and provisions to enable him to reach Saigon, the nearest French port, and then drew up anchor and departed. It is reported that France has decided to declare war officially against China. This decision is said to have been made in consequence of the action of England in enforcing the terms of the foreign enlistment act at Hong Kong

TWO ITALIANS KILLED BY HAIR DYE. BARBER SAYS THAT HE GAVE IT TO THEM BY MISTAKE FOR ANISE-SEED CORDIAL.

A tragedy, involving two deaths by accitental poisoning, occurred last evening in South Brooklyn. It happened in the barber shop of Lorenzo Janere, at No. 66 Hamilton-ave. The victims were Castanza Tergo, age forty-one, a shoe maker, of Philadelphia, and Ereste Egisto, a carpenter, age thirty, of No. 229 South Fifth-ave., this city both Italians. They went to the barber shop with Joseppa Saetta and Andrew Calo, who with Joseppa Saetta and Andrew Calo, who live in the same house as Egisto. The three last named went from this city in the evening together to No. 44 Union-st., Brooklyn, a tailor shop, where they met Ferzo. After Calo had his coat mended, he proposed to go to Janero's barber shop to get shaved. They drank several times on the way, and while Calo was in the barber's hands, the others played pool in the back room. Janero was glad to see them and kissed them. After awhile they wanted something to drink, and said they would take anise-seed cordial. Janero prepared the drink for them and gave it to them in whise glasses. Calo was out of the room, at the time, and when he returned he found his three friends writing in agony on the floor. Ferzo and Egisto died in a few minutes. Sactus, who had taken two drinks, had enough pressure of mind to seek an antidote and ran to as an adjoining grocery and secured some office oil which caused him to vomit freely and he soom recovered.

Janero beat his head with his hands and cried out that he had given them the cordial out of the wrong bottle, and they had drunk hair dys. He shed tears and bemoaned his lot, but before the police were summoned he ran away, and up to a lale hour had not been arrested. A man named Costro hurried to the Eleventh Precinet Sutlon and informed the sergeant that two men were dead and a third was siek in the barber shop. Ambulance Surgeou helcher was called from the Long Island College Hospital. The police found the two men sying on a pool-table and apparently dead, and the was entirely extinct upon his arrival. Other physicians were called in, but none of them could tell just what the poison was. From its effects the was decided that it was not arsenie, but it was thought that it might be strychnine. The bottle from which the polson was taken could not be found, nor the ambailance surgeon could do nothing for them, as life was contined to the strychnine. FIRST MEETING OF THE ANTI-NEWMAN DEACONS-

A meeting of the newly elected deacons of the Madison Avenue Congregational Church was held last evening at the close of a lecture in the church by the Rev. Dr. Cobb. The secretary of the old board, Damiel Smith, was the only Newman member present. This is the first meeting of the deacons which Dr. Ranney and his triends have held in the church in nine months. Dr. Ranney made a report of his attendance as a delegate to the Manhattan Congregational Association held yesterday in Brooklyn, where he was received in the most cordial manner. The importance of maintaining the Madison Avenue Congregational Church was generally recognized. It was said by Dr. Storrs that its importance in New York was even greater than a new Congregational church in Brooklyn would be. "A new opportunity seems to be offered to the Congregational church in Brooklyn would be." Dr. Ranney continued, "and our church may yet fullal its purpose in becoming a great people's church." The association not only promises them aid, but appointed a committee to confer with and assist thom. The members of this committee are the leev. Drs. Clapp, Virgin, and Silvan and wright murder trial this morning, Nathau Austin re-sumed his testimeny on the part of the prosecution, The witness identified the axe, with its nicked blade, which was taken from Rockwell's house, and a piece of a ecdarlog which was found where the horse had been tied in the woods at the head of the trial leading to where the body was found. He also identified a board, which he had taken from Rockwell's shed, with dark spots on it. The axe, log and board were shown to the jury. He testified that the road leading across the creek was forty yards south of the place where the body was discovered.

The State produced an enlarged map of the Rockwell property which was ordered by the court. A. Pitney from, the surveyor, explained the map to the court and jury. Mr. Austin being recalled showed on the map the route which the wagon had taken between Wainwright's cranberry house and the upper and lower bogs. THE CAPTAIN'S SON KILLED AND THROWN OVER BOARD-TWO MUTINEERS SHOT DEAD. A terrible tale of mutiny and murder is recorded on the log-book of the brigantine Natal, which is lying in the Atlantic Basin, Brooklyn. She is commanded by Captain Peter F. Enstrom. The story was told last night in the brigantine's cabin by Mate Bokberg, who sat on the floor in sea-boots, pea jacket, and a woollen comforter, and read in Swedish from the captain's manuscript, while seaman C. O. Carlsen translated the record. Overhead there was an evidence of a struggle with mutineers in a deep gash made with an axe,

The last time the Natal was on the Atlantic Coast was when she left Boston harbor bound for Brisbane, Australia, laden with general merchandise. There were eight on board-Captain Enstrom, his mate, Sylvanius; the second mate, who was the Captain's son; the carpenter, steward and Refus, Toton and Johanssen, sailors. When two months ont, while the Captain was asleep one night, the carpenter attacked him with a broad-axe laying open his face. The Captain warded off a second blow, and the carpenter stabbed him with a sheath-knife in the neck. The Captain cried out and fought desperately. The mate, hearing the struggle, ran in, and the captain with his aid drove out the carpenter and barricaded the cabin door just as the steward was coming to reinforce the carpenter.

The captain staunched his wounds and he and the mate armed themselves with gun and a revolver each. They sallied out and were met by the carpenter, steward and three sailors armed with axes, sheath-knives and capstan bars. In the struggle the captain's pistol was captured, and with it the mate shot under the right eye and in the chin, and he also received numerous stab-wounds and slashes from the sheath-knives. The matineers then retreated into the forehold, where they were all imprisoned, as was supposed, by the battening down of the fore batches.

It was moderate weather, and the captsin and mate forestalled the serious consequences of being caught short-handed in rougher winds by taking in top sails and outer jibs.

advices he was still there.

OBITUARY. John F. Quarles, the well-known colored lawyer, whose office in this city was at No. 317 Broadway, died at his home in Flushing yesterday of pneumonia. Mr. Quarles had been sick for some time from a disorder of the stomach, and was attended by Dr. Goodrich. When the fight for the election of a United nd went to the Capital and worked in the cause of Mr. Evarts. He returned to his home a week ago and complaining of not feeling well went back to his bed, from which he did not rise again. father was a local preacher of some distinction. John F., for his brightness, was always a pet in his master's family, and through the influence of Charles Sumner he was entered at Westminster College, Pennsylvania. He graduated at the head of his class and soon after studied to the bar, and, it is said, was the first colored man that ever attained that distinction. In 1870 President Grant appointed him United States Cousul to Port Manuic, on the spanish coast. He served during Grant's term, and at his own request was transferred by President Hayes to Maiaga, a more important and profitable post. While at Port Mahuic he married Marié Joacquinent, daughter of the French Consul at that port, and grand-daughter of Napoleon's old General of the same name. He resigned his place and returned to this country in the spring of 198, 1880, just in time to patternate in the Gardiel ter of Napoteon's old General of the same name. He resigned his place and returned to thits country in the spring of DB(1880, just in time to participate in the Garfield campaign. He opposed the nomination of Garfield, and used his influence among the colored delegates from the South for Blaine. After the election he retired to his Flushing home and practised his profession. In 1882 Mr.

Sherman appointed him a special commissioner to visit the United States Consuls on the Spanish coast. In the recent campaigh he was an active supporter of Mr. Blaine,
He was highly respected in his profession, and had a large practice. Among the criminals that he defended was William Leighton, the mulatio who killed his mistress, in Twenty-seventh-st, about two years ago, and Charles H. Rugg, the murderer of the Maybie woman at Oyster Bay, L. L. about a year ago. He had taken Rugg's case to the Court of Appeale, where he was to argue it next week. He was also counsel for Cadet Whitaker, at West Point.
No arrangements have yet been made for his funeral, but it is probable that the remains will be embalmed and sent to Atlanta.

No arrangements have yet mains will be embained and tent to Atlanta.

Mr. Quarles left an estate valued at $5,000, including one of the largest law libraries on Long Island. Mrs. Quarles has a brother, a volonel in the French Army, who is at present in China, and another brother, who is a real estate and insurance broker, in Paris.

AUGUSTUS L. BROWN.

In the death of Augustus L. Brown, which conred yesterday, after an illesss of few days only, New-York society loses a prominent member. Few figures were more familiar than his slight, spare form, with its quick, energetic movements. To the public he was perhaps chiefly known as the president of the Board of Directors of the Academy of Music. He was elected to that position last year after having been one of the most influential and zealous members of the board for a long time. A man of letsure for so years, Mr. Brown threw all his energy, which was great, and his business tact and legal knowledge, which were rare, into the affairs of the Academy, and it is not too much to say that in losing him the Academy sustains too much to say that in to sing him the Academy sustains an irreparable loss.

Without much affectation of musical knowledge without much affectation of music especially in its operatic form, and in his youth was himself an accomplished amateur musician. His knowledge of the history, both written and unwritten of the operatic stage was especially large.

Mr. Brown was born in the city in 1818, and studied law in the office of Na handel B. Blunt, who served as especially large.

Mr. Brown was born in the city in 1818, and studied law in the office of Na. hantel R. Blunt, who served as pistrict Attorney and was a leading lawyer in his day. Mr. Brown quickly showed his fitness for the profession he had chosen, and snortly after he was judnitted, to the bar he became a partner of his preceptor. In 1853 he became senior members being A. Oakev Hall and A. J. randerpoel, the other members being A. Oakev Hall and A. J. randerpoel. The firm continued in existence for twenty five years, and in that time is credited with having hundred more legal business than any of its content poraries. During its existence it acted as counsel for the sherif. The firm appeared as counsel for the eity in many leading suits. Mr. Brown seldom at peared in court, being the attorney of the firm, Mr. Brown retired from the practice of his profession upon the dissolution of the firm in 1878. He took no further interest in matters of a purely business character except to guard the fortune he had an assed by hard and continuous work. Match of his time was idevoted to a sick wice, who survives him. He was obliged to be careful of his own health, which had not been good since boyhood. Though a member of the Union League Club and other social organizations, he spent comparatively little time in them, and was considered more of a hone than a club man. Few men stood higher in the estimation of business men than Mr. Brown. His summers he generally spent at Newport, Long Branch and Narragansett Pier. During cold weather he occupied a bandsome house at Fifth ave, and Forty-third-st. His family consist of a wife and grantdangieter. His only consist of a wife and grantdangieter. His only child, a daughter, died six years ago. She was married to a son of Marshail O. Roberts, who died shortly atterward. Ten years after her husband's death Mrs. Roberts married the Count de Pollon.

The Union cold Mr. Brown will take place to-merrow morning in St. Thomas's Church, at Fifth-ave, and Fifty-third-st.

THEODORE HAPENNY. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

PITTSBURG, Jan. 28.-Theodore Hapenny, the gambler, is dead. Although reared in Pittsburg, he was well known the country over, and was a little more than ten years ago worth about $100,000. His first great stake was in drawing the $20,000 cash prize in a Louisiana lottery. Later on, in St. Louis, he was the lucky holder of a ticket that drew $9,000. For some years he was at the head of the sporting fraternity of Indianapolis and conducted soveral large establishments in that city.

devoted several hours to an leftort to ascertain what fifteen men, who aspire to the position of tea examiner, knew about ion. There was no attempt to puzzle them with the rules of syntax, to lose them in the jungles of geographical lore, or to visit them with cruel inquiries about the facts of ancient history. It was a pure and simple tea-party—not a Boston tea-party, although all but one of the party must be thrown overboard-but a party of tea-experts, of whom the most expert is likely to receive the appointment and $2,500 a year. Civil Service Commissioner Dorman B. Eaton and Appraiser

A. P. Keichum were interested spectators.

The official examiners were J. M. Comstock, 'amintor of the Naval Office; Henry D. Stanwood and General N. G. Williams, deputy collectors; Oyens A. Stevens assistant appraiser; C. W. Musgrave, acting deputy surveyor, and appealser; C. W. Musgrave, acting deputy surveyor, and Jasper T. Kane, chief of the Statistical Division of the Custom House; and also the advisory committee of merchants consisting of Henry C. Hawley, Warren Beebe and Houry B. Watson. The applicants were all men who had been connected with the tea trade, and the technical questions as to the varieties of tea. Adulterations, and the method of detecting them, were generally answered with an accuracy that astonished the examiners. In a few days those who are aduleged to have attained 65 or more out of a possible 100 at the theoretical examination will be called before the Board and their knowledge practically tested. Then the four whose standing is the inchest will be recommended to the Appriser who will nominate one of them to the Secretary of the Treasary for the position.

The same number of applicants for the three positions of assistant gaugers in the Custom House at $4 a day were examined. The questions propounded to them related solely to the practical duties of the position, and were followed by practical tests. A sixty-gailon cask labeled "Bordeaux" and gauring tools were provided. Their degrees of proficiency were not immediately passed upon; but it is certain that the cask was empty when the examination was concluded. One of them made a bad "flunk." He declined to give computations on the ground that he had only worked with automatic gauging rods. When shown the cask with the gauging rods ready for use he centessed that he had never been able to use the rods and left the room looking discouraged. As the majority of the applicants are doomed to disappointment, their names are withheld. Jasper T. Kane, chief of the Statistical Division of the

THE LIBERTY BELL IN NEW-ORLEANS.

NEW-ORLEANS, Jan. 28.—The formal transfer of the Liberty Bell to the Exposition managers took place this afternoon, in Music Hall, in the presence of 20,000 persons. J. R. G. Perkins acknowledged the presentation of the bell in behalf of Mayor Gall-lotte. His address was stirring and patriotic. General J. F. Owen, of Philadelphia, made some appropriate remarks in which he called the Bell "one of the crystallized traditions of the republic." Mayor Guillotte condided the care of the Bell to the Exposition management and the Director-General responded with much enhusiasm. The ceremonies passed off smoothly and all of the speakers were warmly applauded.
